Advantages of a Flood
The championship medal for optimism has been awarded to a resident of an Ohio village which was flooded last March.

The old man was found on the roof of his house watching the waters flow past. A neighbor who possessed a row boat rowed across to rescue him.
"All your chickens washed away this mornin', Bill?"
"Yes, but the ducks can swim."
"Apple trees gone, too, eh?"
"Well, they said the crop would be a failure, anyhow."
"I see the river reached above your windows."
"That's all right, Sam. Them windows needed washin'!"

OVERWORK AND WORRY

A Fruitful Source of Broken Down Constitutions

A little worry does a great deal of harm. Overwork and worry gives rise to headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness, weak back, lack of interest in your work, indigestion and sometimes a complete breakdown of the nervous system, leading to paralysis. If these are your symptoms you need a tonic. And the only way to tone up the nerves is through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a direct nerve tonic because they make new rich red blood, which feeds the nerves and strengthens every organ in the body. Under the tonic influence of these Pills nervousness and all the other evils of worry and overwork quickly disappear. They restore the digestion and enable the body to take full advantage from the food eaten.

Mrs. J. C. Chapman, Omecree, Ont., says: "I became completely run down and my nervous system shattered from overwork and worry. I always felt tired and exhausted and slept badly at night. I tried several medicines but did not find the hoped-for relief. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took them regularly for several months and they restored me to perfect health, and I have since been well and strong. I can recommend these Pills to any afflicted with nervousness or a broken constitution as I feel sure they will effect a cure."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THERE seems to be quite a lot of dissatisfaction amongst the public in regard to the conducting of public affairs at the High School building, not in reference to school matters, but because of the way in which the public are used in the use of the grounds and vacant rooms by the janitor. Perhaps he is not to blame. But some change should be made in regulating these matters. We would suggest that the School Board should make the charges for all purposes, such as meetings of the Council, court meetings, library rooms, band practice rooms, etc., and collect same, and the janitors salary be raised to requite him for the work of looking after the rooms, by this method all business connected with the use of these rooms would be conducted through the Board instead of leaving it to individuals which would make it better for all.

TALKING about school matters the Board went to some trouble and expense last year in making a nice lawn on the east side of the High School building and their efforts were much appreciated by the public, but sad to relate for some reason the grounds are not looking as well as they might because of the long grass and prevalence of weeds, especially dandelions, but perhaps these were left to help the color scheme; now their time is over and they have "Bloomed and passed away" it would not be a bad idea to eliminate the rest by mowing the lawn.

You Must Register

It is not generally known that all births, deaths and marriages must be recorded within one month from the time of any such event taking place with the registrar whose postoffice is nearest to the place of such event, and that a penalty of not less than one dollar nor more than $50 shall be levied on persons not complying with these regulations upon summary conviction.

The above summary is taken from the Provincial Vital Statistics Act and it would be well for all persons to make note of the same.

For the information of our readers in the town and district we wish to state that the registrar for this district is Mr. J. V. Berscht, Didsbury.

Oil Brokers Licensed

The town council met on Monday night in the Council chamber, Mayor Atkins, Councillors Chambers, Osmond, Stark, Reed, Sinclair, Moyle and Sec.-Treas. St. Clair being present.

Bills in the hands of the clerk, with the exception of two or three small ones, were ordered not paid until some arrangement was come to as to paying $1,645 debenture due on electric light for which there is only $700 in the bank to pay it with.

Chairman Reed of the Finance Committee, the Mayor and Sec. Treas. was appointed a committee to go into the matter with the bank.

It was decided that the Court of Revision should be held on Thursday July 30th.

Bylaw No. 123 to license oil and other stock brokers was given three readings and passed. This bylaw compels those who are selling stocks of any kind to procure a license, for which the fee is $25 or not more than $50.

The resignation of Mr. H. S. Patterson as town solicitor because of his leaving town was read and on motion was accepted.

A bylaw appointing W. A. Austin as town solicitor at a salary of $150 per year was then given three readings and passed.

The matter of when a dog was a dog was asked or in other words the constable wished instructions as to collecting a certain dog license. He was instructed by the Council to stay by the bylaw and collect the license.

The time is drawing near when something will have to be done to provide cement sidewalks on main street, and as there is no money in the treasury to do same on account of so much outstanding back taxes the Council again discussed ways and means for a short time without coming to any conclusion as to what to do. The Council then adjourned.

Baseball Notes

The Didsbury team were beaten 135 in the game between Lacombe and Didsbury last week.

The Innisfail game at Innisfail on Friday night last was given to Innisfail by the umpire's decision.

A league meeting will be held at Olds on Friday, July 10th, to arrange all matters in dispute and also to arrange for the playing of a second schedule. A delegate from Didsbury will attend but at present it has not been decided who this shall be.

League Secretary Walkely of Olds has received a letter and agreement from the Reach Co. to give a silver trophy to the winners of the league games. Reache's balls and gloves to be used by the players.

Baseball Girls Coming

The All American Baseball Girls will cross bats with the Didsbury nine on Monday evening next, at 6.45 p.m. Miss Nelson will be the slab artist for five innings and then be relieved by Miss St. Clair.

Don't miss this treat as you may never get a chance to see so good a team of girl players again. They play a picked nine of Calgary's city league teams on Saturday and arrive in town Sunday. There are fifteen ladies in the party, and they are the sensation of the year.

REAL SLAB ARTISTS

These ladies are said to have a real ball team and have been winning regularly from fast nine's in most of the different cities they have visited. Miss Maude Nelson is the premier slab artist for the club, and from all reports she can show any of the pitchers in the big leagues how to throw the drop, out shoot and the fade-away.

Saturday afternoon last the ladies won from a strong outfit at the Hat, and showed all kinds of speed on the bases. They played Strathmore Wednesday night, and have two games at Langdon on Thursday, and will be entertained here on Saturday afternoon.—Morning Albertan.

The Talisman

By L. T. Meade

Ward, Lock & Co., Limited

Amongst the girls who had lived part of their lives at Worthington-on-the-Hill was a London girl who had come there for a year. She had come to occupy the place of under-housemaid at the Rectory. A friend of Barbara's father had recommended the girl to the place, not that she was a good servant, she was nothing of the sort, but for the sole reason that the girl seemed honest and wanted change and country air, also that she had the elements of what was good in her, and it was a pity that her life should be sacrificed to the hardships of a London career.

So Kate Jessop had come to the Rectory, had spent one beautiful year there, had got quite well again, and returned to London. She was now a woman of about three or four-and-twenty. She was stoutly built, with a plain face. She had taken an enormous fancy to Barbara, she had loved Barbara with a fervour that most girls give to their first sweetheart. She had lingered about passages just to see little Barbara pass by, if Barbara smiled at her, the whole day for Kate became filled with brightness and sunshine; for Barbara's sake she learnt her work fairly well, and Barbara, in her turn, liked Kate, and was good to her.

It was more than a year now since Kate had left Worthington-on-the-Hill, but during that time she had written occasional letters to Barbara, who replied to them. It now, therefore, flashed through the girl's mind that Kate was the one friend who might help her in her present necessity, who might give her advice, and even tell her where she might find a suitable lodging for a night or two, while she was looking for employment; for the five pounds which Barbara had taken on her journey to London were already considerably diminished by the expenses of her railway fare to town and her cab fare.

Kate's address was Chesney Street,

BABY COVERED WITH RASH

From Head to Foot. Itched and Burned. Disfiguring. Face and Arms Worst. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

Legere Corner, Moncton, N. B.—"When my baby was five months old he had a rash which used to trouble him very much. The rash was very bad and he was covered from head to foot. I got no rest day or night with him. It would itch and burn so much that he used to scratch till he used to bring the blood and then it would turn to a matter sore which disfigured him.

The worst was his face and arms. "I tried a good many different salves and ointments but to no use; he got no better. But after a while I thought I would try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and had only used them two or three times when I saw a great change. The sores dried up and came off and he was cured." (Signed) Mrs. George French, May 26, 1913.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Pimlico—20a, Chesney street. Barbara, determined to visit Kate in Chesney street. But how to get there was a puzzle. She had no notion where Pimlico was: Pimlico was somewhere. In this marvellous labyrinth of streets and houses and rushing men and rushing women, of bustle, of noise, and of turmoil, Chesney street had doubtless its own little niche. But where, oh, where was it to be found? Barbara determined to go out of the cul-de-sac, where she had quieted her beating heart, and ask a policeman to guide her to Chesney street. She found a tall policeman standing not far from the Fleet street end of Chancery Lane. He observed his wistful and sweet face and came at once to speak to her.

"Yes, miss," he said, "can I do anything for you? What is it, miss?" Barbara explained her difficulties. She wished to get to Pimlico; she did not know where Pimlico was. "You take a bus to Victoria; it's quite easy. Here's one coming along now. Tell the conductor to put you down at Victoria Station, and there you ask again."

"Thank you!" said Barbara. A minute later she had mounted on top of the bus and was looking around her, a sense of novelty taking possession of her and crushing back the cruel sorrow which was eating into her heart.

She reached Victoria all in due course, and from there was directed by more than one policeman to Chesney street. It certainly was a low-down, unattractive part of the world. It seemed to be behind all the respectable streets. It seemed to be full of dirt and squalor and misery. Barbara observed the name at one end of the street. It was written up in bold characters: Chesney street. Yes, there could be no doubt about it. It was here that Kate Jessop lived. Kate, who had enjoyed her year in the country, who had adored her pretty little bedroom, and the flowers which Barbara gave her from time to time; her country walks; her seat in church on Sunday; Kate, who had sung so joyfully with the other girls in the choir; Kate, who had grown bonny and almost good-looking by her life in the healthy, pure air, by her consumption of the excellent food which abounded at the pleasant Rectory. Barbara gasped a little.

But No. 20a was not hard to find, and presently the girl stopped before a dirty house with some broken steps leading up to the front door. The door was shut. The steps were extremely dirty. They were also slippery with the first cold mud of a London winter. The windows were begrimed. There were tattered curtains to one or two and broken-down Venetian blinds to others.

Barbara very nearly turned away. Kate must have made a mistake, or she herself must have made a mistake. There was surely some other Chesney street where a girl who had lived for a whole year at the rectory in Devonshire could find a home. But the address had burnt itself into Barbara's brain. She could not get away from it.

A couple of ragged-looking urchins came up and stared at the neatly dressed girl.

"Wot be yer wantin', lydy?" said the more impudent of the two.

"I want some one who may be living in this house," said Barbara, in her sweet voice.

"Then yer better ring," said the smaller boy. He and his mate were both, as they afterwards expressed it, attracted favorably by Barbara's face.

"I'll ring for yer, miss," said the bigger boy. He ran up the steps and pulled vigorously at the broken bell. The wire was very loose, and the bell hung down; but a tinkling noise was heard within, and presently a woman put a frowsy head out of a basement window downstairs. The boy who had rung the bell, said:

"Come along, and wait on the lydy ere. Come this minute."

The woman wiped her hands on her apron and a moment later had opened the door for Barbara.

"Wot is it?" she said. "What be yer wantin', miss?"

"I wish to know—I'm sorry to trouble you," said Barbara, "and I don't suppose she is here after all; but I used to know a girl called Kate Jessop. I've written to her sometimes, and she gave me as her address, 20a, Chesney street."

"Well, miss, and what about her?"

"Do you happen to know if—if—she is here?" said Barbara, her heart beating.

"Yus, miss; she be 'ere; but not now. She's out at the present moment; but ef you'll come in and wait—"

"Oh, I don't think I can," said Barbara. "I'll come back, though. What time will she be in?"

"This is her early evenin' in," said the woman. She glanced at one of the boys, who nodded at her. "She'll be in, miss, all things bein' suitable, and no greater attractions offered, by about eight o'clock tonight."

"Very well; I will come back then," said Barbara.

She turned and walked down the street. The woman gazed after her.

"She's a lydy, she is. You get out o' the way, you Ben—Bob, what are you doing, idling yer time. Go and help your mother to clean up and put things straight. I'm ashamed on the pair of yer."

The boys laughed insolently. One boy glanced at the other, who gave a knowing wink, and, without taking any further notice of the woman who had opened the door, they sped down the street after Barbara. She turned when she heard their patting feet.

"Well, she said, 'what do you want?'"

"Maybe, miss, yer'd give us a copper each, seein' we're vurry cold and 'ungry."

Barbara felt in her pocket. She had a few loose coppers. She gave one to each boy. They looked at the coins and then at each other.

"Be yer comin' back tonight, missie?"

"Yes, I think so," answered Barbara.

"Taint a nice street for a young lady to be in at night-fall," said the bigger boy.

"That it ain't," remarked the younger.

"I'm sorry," said Barbara, "but I must come back."

"Shall us meet yer at the corner 'ere on this vurry spot?" said the big boy.

"Will you?" said Barbara.

"That us will."

"Do," said the girl.

She nodded to them, smiled faintly, and walked away. She found a restaurant not far off and entered. She ordered some tea and buttered toast. The tea was anything but good and the toast was not to her taste; but she knew she must in future give up being fastidious. She drank every drop of the tea and ate all the buttered toast, and felt better in consequence.

Then she glanced at her little watch. She must have some sort of lodging for the night, and she could not sleep in Chesney street. Her watch told her that it was between five and six o'clock. She ought to look for a lodging somewhere near.

She did not know anything whatever about London. A girl came up to clear her tea things. Barbara looked into her face. The girl had a kindly expression.

"I wonder," said Barbara.

"Yes, miss; some more tea, miss? Certainly, miss."

"It isn't that," said Barbara. "It's—I am a country girl. Do you know of some quite cheap, quite clean rooms that I could take for a night or two?"

The girl looked interested.

"To be sure now," she said. "There's rooms, and quite decent rooms, too, in Chesney street."

"Oh, no; not there," said Barbara.

The girl put on an offended air and tossed her head.

"Just as you please, of course, miss. I thought you said cheap rooms. They're cheap in Chesney street, and it's there I live, but it don't matter."

ROSY AND PLUMP

Good Health From Right Food

"It's not a new food to me," remarked a man, in speaking of Grape-Nuts.

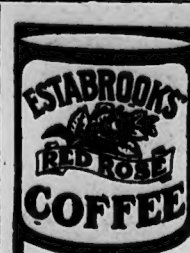

"About twelve months ago my wife was in very bad health, could not keep anything on her stomach. The Doctor recommended milk, half water, but it was not sufficiently nourishing."

"A friend of mine told me one day to try Grape-Nuts and cream. The result was really marvelous. My wife soon regained her usual strength and today is as rosy and plump as when a girl of sixteen."

"These are plain facts and nothing I could say in praise of Grape-Nuts would exaggerate in the least the value of this great food."

Where Class Didn't Count

A young woman from abroad was starting her conquest of the country by entering domestic service with a haughty east end family. She had an afternoon off and put on her finest finery and paraded down the street with another domestic. As they were walking along, talking of this and that, comparing experiences and notes and other such things, the companion said:

"Look, Norah! There's the woman you work for on the other side of the street!"

"Heavens, Maggie! I hope see do. I see me!"

None Perfect

There is a waiter in a certain boarding house in Cleveland who has a keen sense of humor and is quick at repartee.

The other day one of the female boarders, who is blessed with a healthy appetite, took two pieces of cake at once when the dish was passed to her. Then she flashed her most winning smile on the waiter and said:

"I suppose I am a perfect pig."

He did not laugh. But he came back at her with the quiet answer:

"None of us is perfect."

"Your boy has all sorts of athletic training."

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel.

The Wonderful Aphid

The aphid is in one way the most startling of all forms of insect life, for, although the females can and do lay eggs, its usual method of increase is by a sort of budding process, the young growing on the bodies of the parent exactly as brussels sprouts grow out of the stalks of the plant. The old produce young at the rate of twenty-five a day, and as the young are at once mature each can produce its twenty-five on the following day. It positively frightens one to work this multiplication out to a conclusion, for it means this: Supposing that the aphid could increase and multiply without interference, the twenty-fifth generation would be a number too long to quote here. Put down a 1 and follow it with twenty-eight naughts and you will be within a few millions of it.

FORTUNES INVESTED IN BLACK FOX FARMING

WESTERN CANADA HAS NOW
TAKEN UP COMPARATIVELY
NEW INDUSTRY

Ten Companies With a Combined Capital Approaching a Million Dollars Are Now Operating in the Province of Alberta—Protection For Breeders.

By mile by mile thin lines of steel are creeping rapidly northward from Edmonton into the great hinterland of Alberta. Civilization is making its way into fields long the home of the Indian and the trapper. Not content with this the men of civilization are offering opposition to the Indian and the trapper. Fur farms, upon which live black and silver grey foxes are carefully raised and nurtured in surroundings made as much like the wild as possible, are now being started extensively throughout the province.

The black fox is probably the most valuable fur bearing animal in existence today, and its comparative rarity, coupled with the uncertainty in the supply of skins as taken by the Indians and trappers each year, has turned the attention of fur men throughout the western provinces to the possibilities that lie in the raising of these animals in captivity.

Although this business of raising black foxes, is by no means new, having been carried on in Prince Edward Island for some twenty years, it was not until recently that men in the western provinces became alive to the profits that exist in this industry.

The influx of a large number of buyers from Eastern Canada, and the United States during the seasons of 1912 and 1913, however, started a boom. The great number of live foxes brought down from the north during that time, and the huge sums paid in many cases for these animals when delivered to Athabasca Landing, and Edmonton, instantly brought the business wide publicity.

The boom reached its height during the spring and summer of 1913. During the months from March to September of last year, over half a million dollars was invested in fox pupples, and grown animals of the black and silver grey varieties. Most of this was spent by buyers from Eastern Canada, although William H. Kane, representing the fox farm of that name at Ogden, Pennsylvania took out animals to the value of $237,000.

Following the wide publicity given the various big deals, business men, as well as fur buyers and traders, in Northern Alberta turned their attention to the business, and fox farming is now stepping into the ranks as a very important industry.

Ten companies, with a combined capital approaching a million dollars, are now operating in the province. Ranches have been started in several districts in North and Central Alberta where conditions are said to be ideal for the rearing of these expensive little animals.

The enormous export of live black foxes during the past two years did not, however, go unwatched by the government. During the winter sitting of the provincial house of Alberta a bill was passed prohibiting the taking of the animals from April to November. As the pupples are whelped at the latter end of April, and during the month of May, this law gives them sufficient time to grow large enough to avoid the digging out process, which, in the last two years, has been so successfully resorted to by trappers.

Permits must be now secured from the office of the provincial game warden by people desiring to take foxes during the close season.

It is now also illegal for any person to export live foxes beyond the boundary of the province without first obtaining a permit. The cost of a permit in respect to animals raised on fur farms in the province is $15, and in the case of animals not reared on the farms $100 for every black or silver fox exported, and $15 for any other species of the fox family. These last two regulations are in the way of protection for provincial breeders.—Family Herald and Weekly Star.

To Start Australian Building

C. J. Oakshott, official architect for the British colonies, is in San Francisco to begin arrangements for the construction of the Australian building on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International exposition.

"Because Australia," said Oakshott, "has ambitious plans for participation it is possible that an application will be made for a larger building site than that which has been allotted to us. It is possible that a little delay will occur in carrying out our plans. In the end, however, it will give us a chance to make a better showing."

Oakshott promised, however, to have the building completed several months before the scheduled opening of the exposition.

Platinum Company in B.C.

The British Columbia Platinum Co., backed by English capital, will start operation in the Tuluamen district. Four mining leases have been taken on Tuluamen Creek, and 361 acres of crown granted land, and known as the Rabbit ranch. The ground is known to be thoroughly rich in gold and platinum.

GRAND RAPIDS RESERVATION

Practical Conservation by the Water Powers Branch

The minister of the interior has authorized the reservation of all the available Dominion lands contiguous to the Grand Rapids of the Saskatchewan river, in the province of Manitoba, until such time as the superintendent of the Dominion water power branch is able to make a definite statement respecting the lands actually required for power purposes at this point. During the summer of 1913 an extensive topographical survey of this important power site was made by the Dominion water power branch, to enable the engineers of the government interested in power and navigation to design a scheme of power development which would realize the best use of the power resources of the river without any impairment of future navigation. The hydrographic investigations that have been under way for the last couple of years show that the river varies from 4,200 second feet at low water to about 160,000 second feet at flood time. While this variation is very considerable regulation can be provided to make a power development at Grand Rapids a profitable undertaking. In any event, the action of the engineers of the Dominion water power branch in having a thorough survey made and in arranging for reservation of the Dominion land required for power shows that conservation is being carried out, in practice as well as in theory.

Barbers Come High in Canada

The barber shops of Canada and the United States are said to be as fine as any in the world and to charge the highest prices. Comparatively few cities of Europe use high revolving chairs and many of these run their barber shops in connection with men's furnishing stores.

In most European cities a hair cut and a shampoo costs six cents, and in parts of London a shave costs four cents. In some Italian cities one cent is charged for a shave and two cents for a hair cut, and in Turkey barbers take their entire pay in tips.

Many German barbers make wigs and switches while waiting for customers and many French barbers do ladies' hair dressing. Austrian barbers are compelled to serve apprenticeships for four years, on pay beginning at 41 cents a week and ending at $1.02 a week, before they can own their shops.

Syrian barbers seat their customers in straight backed chairs before tiny wall mirrors, and fix queer shaped pans about their throats. Then they rub oil with their fingers lather made from cheap soap.

In India your barber calls at your house and shaves you every morning for $2 a month.

In China the barbers carry stools, small tubs, razors and scissors about the streets, stopping on the sidewalks to perform their work, just as scissors grinders do in America.

ANTELOPE PARK NEAR THE HAT

Dominion National Park May Also Be Located in the Cypress Hills

In all probability the antelope park, which is to be located on the prairies, will be down the river some twenty-five miles from Medicine Hat, and it is likely that a Dominion national park will be established at the Cypress hills, south of there.

The location mentioned for the antelope park is one which it is understood appeared very strongly to Maxwell Graham of Ottawa, and Ernest Thompson Seton, of New York, who have been in that district seeking a possible location for the park. The visitors also investigated conditions at the Cypress hills, and it is said they will recommend the location there of a Dominion park in which animal life of the prairie will be protected.

Not Youngest Governor

A correspondent of the Ottawa Free Press points out that Prince Alexander of Teck, named as the new governor-general for Canada, is not the youngest governor-general yet appointed in Canada, or for that matter, in any other dominion. Although one of the youngest, he is not the youngest. The Marquis of Lorne was only 33 years of age when appointed governor-general; the Earl of Elgin, 35; the Marquis of Lansdowne, 38; Colonel Simcoe, 39, and Poultice Thomson, later Lord Sydenham, was within a week of completing his 40th year.

WILL MAKE TRIP TO TEST ARCTIC RATIONS

SIR ERNEST SHACKLETON GOES TO NORWAY GLACIERS TO TRY OUT PLANS

A Preliminary Trial Expedition to be Made to Norway to Test Rations and Equipment Before Leaving For the Antarctic Continent.

With the thoroughness which has always characterized his work, Sir Ernest Shackleton is about to make a preliminary trial expedition under Arctic conditions in the glaciers of Norway. This will be for the special purpose of testing the rations for his trip across the Antarctic continent, which he hopes to make in four and a half months' time.

No party ever started out, without having food depots, to make such a distance as that in a straight line, but Sir Ernest and his men have made special preparations for the attempt. They have, with the aid of the Royal Army Medical corps, evolved the "perfect ration." It will average only thirty-five ounces daily, as compared with the three pounds or more consumed by the average man, but it is believed it represents the highest nutritive value for polar travel.

Sir Ernest will be accompanied by five members of his staff when he goes to Norway to conduct experiments with these rations and also test his tents and motor sleds.

The party will don polar kit and travel among the glaciers. While the cold will not be as intense as in the polar regions, the country will furnish the same sort of sudden blizzards as are experienced in the Antarctic. The party will test the effect and potency of the rations in most detailed fashion.

Shackleton's new ship, the Endurance, has been almost completely fitted in Norway and will arrive at the London docks this month. It is eighteen feet longer than his last ship, Nimrod. It is a beautiful specimen of wooden shipbuilding, and probably the last of its class that will be constructed. Its whole keel is made of solid oak five and a half feet thick, and its sides are two feet thick. It belongs to the barkentine class, has the latest triple expansion engines and will steam ten knots an hour. It is fitted to consume both oil and coal. When in the ice oil will be substituted for coal, which will mean economy if it is delayed in the pack, as the boilers can be kept warm and full heat generated quickly. When the oil has been used the tanks will be filled with water ballast.

The dogs, which constitute an important factor in the expedition, are a cross between a wolf and a Scotch stag hound, and have been bred in Northern Canada. The lightest of them will turn the scales at eighty pounds, whereas the heaviest dog with the last Shackleton expedition weighed forty-five pounds. They have been selected by the experts of the Hudson Bay company and will be under the charge of one of the most experienced drivers from Canada, who was chosen by the commissioner of the Northwest Mounted Police.

The latest appointments to the expeditionary staff are Sir Philip Lee Brocklehurst, who was with Shackleton in 1907 and 1909 and who made the first ascent of Mount Erebus, and his brother, Lieut. Courtney Brocklehurst, of the Eleventh Hussars. Hundreds of applications for positions with the expedition have been received.

Magna Charta Septicentenary

The 700th anniversary of the grant of Magna Charta by King John occurs on June 15, 1915.

The Royal Historical Society is organizing a commemoration of the event and has invited English, American and foreign scholars and others to form a general committee. The general committee will appoint an executive committee to supervise the arrangements necessary. Lord Bryce has consented to act as chairman of the general committee.

The famous old foundation of political freedom won the condemnation of John from the Roman power. It declared not only the liberty of individuals, but of national institutions also. Its first words in the Latin run in English, "The Church of England shall be free, and have her rights entire, and her liberties inviolate." That was in the year 1215. The event was of more than national importance, at the time, and has exerted an influence over all English people down to the present day.

Buying by Weight

Ohio housewives are assured of getting just what they pay for. The State Agricultural commission will enforce the law requiring that all packages of food must be marked with accurate net weights. Violators will be prosecuted. The greatest abuse, state officials say, is in the packing of lard. A weight is stamped upon the can, but it does not specify whether it is net or gross. Retailers have endorsed the law. They have written Commissioner Strode telling him that sales of weight are far more satisfactory than measure. They declare customers are better satisfied and clerks save time.

Greece to Get Warships

The United States senate amended the naval appropriation bill so as to authorize the sale of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi and the construction of a modern dreadnought with the money. Greece is understood to be the prospective purchaser.

STRATHCONA LEFT $27,928,000

Over Four Million Dollars Are Paid in Death Duties

The personal property left by the late Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal, former high commissioner for Canada, amounted to $23,257,000. This was disclosed when probate was granted.

The precise value of the real estate left by the testator, who died in London on January 21 this year, was not made public, but the fact that the duty paid amounted to $4,189,190, indicates that his entire estate, real and personal, had a total value of $27,928,000.

The deceased Peer's holdings consisted of six million, six hundred and six thousand dollars of stock in the Great Northern Railway of the United States; three million, three hundred and eighty thousand dollars of Northern Pacific railway stocks; four million, one hundred and twelve thousand dollars of Canadian Pacific railway stock; six hundred and forty-five thousand dollars in the Bank of Montreal; four hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars in the Laurentide Company, and four thousand dollars in the Dominion Steel Corporation.

The family and charitable bequests under the will have already been published.

The household effects in the Grosvenor Square residence are valued at twenty-six thousand pounds, the pictures being worth sixteen thousand pounds. His Lordship's interest in the Hudson Bay Company amount to two hundred and forty-eight thousand pounds, and Baring Brothers forty-four thousand pounds.

If the will had come under the provision of the Lloyd-George's budget must introduced the duty payable would have been over one million one hundred and seventeen thousand pounds, instead of eight hundred and thirty-seven thousand pounds.

WOMEN GUIDES IN LONDON

New Calling Proves Attractive to Persons of Education

For some years an Englishwoman living in Paris has made a capital living as a guide, and an advertisement appeared in a London daily paper recently in which an English woman "speaking five languages" offered to accompany visitors of her own sex around London.

There should be, one would imagine, a big demand for women guides in London, but an official at Thomas Cook & Son's head office did not take this view.

"We have a number of women guides on our list," he said to a correspondent, "but we are very rarely asked for their services."

On the other hand the Women's International league organizes trips abroad conducted exclusively by women and women guides are always available for visitors to London. It is found that their services are greatly appreciated and mothers often ask for women who can meet their children in London or at seaports on their journeys to and from school.

It is obvious too that in shopping expeditions a male guide is useless, and there must be many foreign, American and colonial women now in London who would be glad of the services of a capable woman with an intimate knowledge of the west end shops.

SALE OF IMPLEMENTS

Saskatchewan Government Appoints Commission to Conduct Inquiry

A royal commission has been appointed by the Saskatchewan government to conduct an inquiry into the manner in which the sale of farm implements is carried on in this province. They will make such recommendations to the government regarding legislation as may be deemed desirable in the interests of both farmers and implement companies. The commission is comprised of the following: Mr. Justice Newland, Mr. Justice Lamont, Hon. A. Turgeon, attorney-general; Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, and J. A. Maharg, president of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co., and ex-president of the Grain Growers' association. A preliminary meeting will be held without delay, in order to map out the course of the inquiry in detail. The implement dealers and the farmers are showing considerable interest in this latest movement of the government.

King as a Landlord

The subject of housing is now foremost in the mind of King George of England, according to cable dispatches says the Chicago Tribune. The king is interested in housing, however, not as a ruler of a nation, but as a landlord. One of the many estates from which his majesty derives his revenue happens to be one of the worst slums in London.

The king proposes to raise the old buildings in his slum holdings, widen the narrow streets, and construct in their stead "substantial, commodious and comely dwellings." In these new buildings he will give every attention. It is announced by the sanitary engineers carrying out his wishes, "to the mainstays of domestic life."

Persia's Ruin Complete

The once world empire Persia is described as a land that has gone "completely to rack and ruin" by a German army officer writing in the current number of the official organ of the General Staff. He says that the country is practically deserted by all persons of either wealth or refinement and that those who are left behind are going into bankruptcy in increasing numbers from day to day.

TREASURE HUNTERS IN QUEST OF GOLD

ARE SEARCHING FOR PIRATES' FORTUNE SAID TO BE HIDDEN IN CANAL ZONE

English Woman Headed Expedition to Cocos Island, Which Meets With Failure—Others Are Anxious to Take up the Quest

Maurice Eugene Gilmore, former head of the department of sanitation of the city of Panama, and at present manager of a large subdivision on the outskirts of that city, says that while nearly the whole world is now awake to the fact that fortunes may be made in Panama by good, hard work, there are still a lot of fortune-hunters who expect to get their money by a much easier route. A short time ago the latest expedition in search of the pirates' treasure on Cocos Island returned to Panama confessing its failure. A few thousand dollars more in money and several lives have been poured into the quest, and the treasure rests as secure from the hands of modern argonauts as it has been for nearly a century.

About three years ago an expedition organized by two English women, whose object in searching for the treasure was to devote it to charity in which they are interested in London, spent six weeks on Cocos, and came away confessing that their plans had gone wrong.

Mr. Mills encountered his adventure had finished there was not a man rating himself as a fool for engaging in such an enterprise. Yet when he had finished there was not a man of the dozen at the table with him but would gladly have enlisted his resources and strength in another trial at the pirate's treasure. Fortunately, they are all poor, and could not raise the money among them to buy the treasure ship.

"The expedition left England, made the Strait of Magellan, and then sailed direct for Cocos Island, which lies at the mouth of the Gulf of Panama, about 300 miles distant from the city. At that time of the year the surf runs high at Cocos, and it was impossible to land in the ships boats, so with much toil a raft was launched, and by this means the tools and provisions were put ashore. The work extended over two months.

There are two well-known clues to Cocos treasure—the first that to the loot taken from Lima in 1818 by an English sailor named Thompson, and the second that to the treasure stolen from Vera Cruz in 1821 by the Spanish pirate, Benito Bonite (Little Ben the Good). It was during the civil strife that followed the war for liberation from Spain in 1821 that Little Ben and his cut-throats surprised the treasure house at Vera Cruz in broad daylight and made away with the gold and silver on pack mules.

They crossed the whole of Mexico and took to their ship, which was waiting for them in a cove on the Pacific. The value of their booty is variously estimated at from $9,000,000 to $29,000,000. They were not pursued, and yet the first thought appears to have been to hide the loot. They made straight for the well known watering island of Cocos, and there, in a cave in the side of one of the steep cliffs that rise black and steep above the water they hid their treasure.

Mr. Mills said that there had been several slides of earth and rock along the cliff to which the bearings point, and that if the cave and its treasure were over there (he is skeptical just now) it would take a vast amount of excavation to reveal them. The labor involved was too great for the resources of his company, so the search was abandoned.

The woman who headed the expedition of two years ago, and was a member of this latest one, is a matter-of-fact sort of woman past 50 years.

"Our expedition failed," she said, "for the reason that so many others have failed. We could not give sufficient time to the search. I have the clue. I know where the treasure lies, and only work is necessary to uncover it. I am not satisfied with the result. I shall return to London and organize a new company, and then try again."

Turkish Telephone Girls

It seems hard to believe that the telephone system is a new thing in Turkey.

The Anglo-French Telephone Company, which obtained a concession from the Turkish government to install a telephone system in Constantinople some time ago, has completed the work of laying about 23,000 miles of wire, including eight submarine cables. The service opened with 4,000 subscribers.

The operators are all native girls—Greeks, Armenians, Jewish and a few Turkish. This is the first time Turkish women have accepted work in a public place. A school is maintained for teaching the girls the uses of the exchange.

Government Organ Speaks

In an editorial concerning Asiatic immigration, the London Daily News says that opinion on the Pacific coast, and doubtless throughout Canada, is as emphatic as opinion in South Africa, and it will not suffer the immigration of Asiatics, because that would lower the standard of living and make the Pacific coast impossible as a white man's country. Should it be found that the existing law does not suffice to exclude Asiatics, there will be found a demand for most effective legislation, says the News.

Rather "Ungallant."

EDITOR DIDSBURY PIONEER

Dear Sir:—With your kind permission I would, through the columns of your valuable paper, like to express my views, and at the same time pen the sentiments of the majority of the Citizens of Didsbury anent the very ungentlemanly behaviour of the caretaker of the Public School.

Since his advent to our town he has been (and it would seem to be his only aim and object to be) for ever in the lime light, making the residents of "The Little Brick City" sit up and take notice, and I must say that on the occasion of the lawn social in aid of our citizens band, given by the ladies of Didsbury, that his attempt at posing as "A Dominant Factor" was indeed a most miserable failure, and instead of the many "guests of the evening" looking upon him with pleasure and pride as being one of the old gallant, faithful and courteous veterans of '85 as he claims himself to be, he conveyed the correct impression that he is just a parcel of arrogant ignorance and over-estimated self importance, entirely outstepping his province as wielder of the broom and tickler of the bell which really only spells "Janitor" and not "Commander."

Sir, I cannot help but repeat that his conduct on the afternoon and evening of the social was simply beyond endurance, and his direct insolence to the ladies who had the arrangements in hand was such that could not be let pass without exposure. Firstly, he refused to open the door of the school and gave his order that only the west side of the grounds had to be used and then made the boast in the pool room hall that he was making one of the School Board hunt for him, and then he stood by and let the ladies actually creep through the railings like a freak species of quadrupeds. Mrs. Chambers performing the stunt at least eight or nine times after making an appeal to Mr. Janitor to open the gate but who just acted like a dumb mute and paid no attention, and I myself actually saw two of the band boys crawling through the rails on all fours with a copper full of boiling water; these are only a few of the evidences of his displeasure at his sacred precincts being rampaged by the citizens who pay his salary.

As a janitor he may be "passable", but as a gentleman I must say I have seen better samples of gentlemen swept out of toy shops minus arms, legs and eyes, and as far as fulfilling his duties as caretaker of our public school and servant of our inestimable School Board I should advise that he be instructed to keep his place and mind his own business.

Thanking you for this space I remain

Yours truly,

AN INDIGNANT OBSERVER

Chamberlain is Dead

London, July 3.—Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain died at his London home last night. Although not entirely unexpected, the passing of Mr. Chamberlain, thus removing one of the most notable figures in contemporary British politics, came as a distinct shock to the country, and the news has cast a gloom over all Great Britain. Mr. Chamberlain was 78 years of age, and although it is an open secret that in mental vigor he has been failing for a number of years past, it was generally supposed that his physical health, his age being considered, was excellent.

Mr. Chamberlain's last public appearance was at a garden party given on May 6 last at his home in Highbury, Birmingham. Here, with Mrs. Chamberlain and his son Austen, he received several hundred constituents.

Mrs. Chamberlain, who has never left her husband's side since the stroke of paralysis occurred, and Mr. Austen Chamberlain, were with the statesman when he died.

It is officially announced that the cause of Mr. Chamberlain's death was heart failure. Although he has been gradually sinking since last Tuesday, the members of the family had preferred that his condition should not be made public.

A Good Idea

The suggestion that most interested the Dominion Government commission now engaged in investigating the "high cost of living" problem in Canada, was one suggested by Mrs. E. P. Newhall, the president of the Consumers' league at Saturday's session in Calgary.

Mrs. Newhall's proposal was that at all public schools children under 18 years old should be uniformed, boys and girls alike. Mrs. Newhall did not mean that the municipalities should supply the uniforms but that pater-families, as usual, should furnish the clothes. The idea is however that the boys should wear khaki suits and the girls denim dresses, all made on the same pattern, of a uniform color and grade of cloth.

The commissioners pricked up their ears when Mrs. Newhall outlined her suggestion. It was a novel one to them and they plied her with all kinds of questions. They recommended that she should agitate the subject and, in the meantime, they incorporated the idea in the mass of information which they have been getting together during their tour of Canada.

Mrs. Newhall in supporting her proposal pointed out that in the agricultural colleges it was the rule that nothing more expensive than denim should be worn by the girl students. In the French convent schools pupils had to wear black dresses of inexpensive stuff of uniform design.

One result would be to do away with class distinctions in the schools. It would be a great democratizing influence because all students, whether their parents were well-to-do or otherwise would be dressed exactly alike. Girls would no longer be permitted to go to school attired in furs and costly toggery, and decorated with bracelets, rings and other jewelry.

The cost to the average parent would be considerably reduced. The suits and dresses being of standard material, color and style, could be handed down from elder to youngster intact and there would be a saving that way.

The Redeemer

In the mystic early ages

Ere we sought beyond the foam,
While the silence of the forest

Wrapp'd the seven hills of Rome.

Prophets told of a Redeemer

Who would leave His home above,

And restore earth's fallen children

To a heavenly Father's love.

Through the measured throb of ages,

Sounding to the march of time,
Suffering Israel kept her watches,

For the messenger Divine.

Sadly moving through the shadows

Of an ever deep'ning gloom,

March'd the fallen sons of Adam

To the darkness of the tomb.

But a brighter day is dawning

Than hath yet been known to them,

'Tis the advent of a Saviour

Born in lowly Bethlehem.

Come to heal the broken-hearted,

Come to set the captive free,

Come to purchase full redemption,

By His death on calvary.

Scorn'd by those He came to ransom,

Mocked by unctuous Pharisee,

Numb'ring only in His following,

Humble men of Galilee.

Weeps the gentle Prince of Glory

O'er earth's scenes of misery,

Ere He tastes His cup of anguish,

Kneeling in Gethsemane.

Soon He purchas'd full redemption

On the cross of Calvary,

Gave His life for us a ransom,

On that thrice accursed tree.

Now He lives to offer pardon

To the wayward, erring one,

And to welcome home the weary

When their work on earth is done.

ROD and GUN

Rod and Gun for July, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., is out with a very striking cover design, an Indian shooter in full regalia, to the ordinary reader suggestive of a vanished race to the trap-shooter a reminder of the annual "Canadian Indians' Tournament" at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Within the magazine is contained an account of the recent Grand International Tournament at St. Thomas, Ont. For the sportsman, tourist and lover of the out-of-doors, there is an interesting bill of fare which includes: A Canoe Trip from Lake Temiscaming to Lake Abitibi, an article on Newfoundland, the sportsman's paradise; the story of "An Off Week" on the outskirts of Jasper Park, Alta.; Reminiscences of Fishing in Rideau Lakes; two good stories, Canadian Camp life and Cupid Alias Uncle Zeb White; Goin' Fishing; The Value of the Birds, a plea for an international treaty of protection; Skunks and how to take them; and a host of other material of the kind that readers of out-door literature enjoy.

OUR HOME MARKET

Canada Consumes the Greatest Part of Its Own Manufactures

The annual output of factory goods in Canada is valued at over a billion dollars. The annual output of finished products amounts to another billion dollars. The artisans and work people engaged in these 20,000 factories number nearly half a million, and earn in wages each year over $250,000,000. In the six years that have elapsed since 1905, an increase of more than 33 per cent. has taken place in the number of industries, the number of hands employed, the capital invested, the wages paid, and in the output of finished products. This remarkable expansion, it may be said, is due largely to the fact that Canada's appetite has grown with the addition of cubits to her stature, and the demand for goods of all kinds is greater than ever before. Exports of Canadian manufactures comprise the least part of our trade. While it is extremely difficult to tell exactly how much the output of manufactures in Canada amounts to each year and where this output goes, it is possible from the estimates at hand to show the relatively greater demands made upon our factories by our own people than by foreign countries. Canada consumes at home about twenty-nine per cent. of her own manufactures, for the Dominion exported last year of manufactured goods not quite thirty-one and a half million dollars worth, which is about one thirtieth of the entire output of a billion dollars. Manufacturing in Canada has a field to develop, and although our factories are hardly keeping pace with the needs of the country, a determined effort is being made, in the face of such big problems as heavy transportation charges, provincial taxes, and raw materials, to compete with rival industries in the United States, and to hold for Canadian capital and Canadian labor the benefits of the greatest undeveloped home market in the world. At the present rate of consumption Canada is using every year the bulk of its own billion dollar production as well as a hundred million States.

A Gigantic Barometer

The remarkable discovery has been made that the Eiffel Tower sink, over an inch into the ground in certain atmospheric conditions, rising again later to its normal state. It was known that the Tower swayed horizontally to the extent of several centimeters and M. Guillaume of the Academy of Science conceived the idea of stretching a piece of wire from the recent storey to the ground. Leaving the wire taut he found that twice after storms it had loosened to the extent of an inch or more. Further investigations have shown that the tower sinks several hours before the approach of stormy weather—in other words, the great structure is an admirable barometer.

The King's Resignation

Since there is no precedent for the Sovereign's holding office in any university of the Empire, King George has resigned the Chancellorship of the Cape University, with which his Majesty was invested on the occasion of his visit to South Africa in 1901 as Duke of Cornwall.

The Duke of Connaught has accepted the nomination to the Chancellorship in succession to the King.

Rector's Fortunate Escape

The Rev. M. Westropp, rector of Pimlico, county Tipperary, had a narrow escape from a mysterious gun shot. He and a cousin were in the drawing-room of the rectory arranging fishing tackle, when a gun was fired, shattering a landing window, and riddling the wall and door of M. Westropp's room with shot and pellets. Fortunately no one was hurt.

WHY JIMMIE KNEW

He Tells of His Sure Clue in a Chicken Guessing Match

At a dinner in a suburban district, where all the guests were amateur chicken raisers, after a discussion of the egg problem the conversation turned to the best breed of hens. After the good points of Orpingtons, Minorcas, Leghorns and others had all been brought forth, the host said: "Well, the ultimate end of every chicken is the pot, and you can't tell the difference when it is on the table. Let's see how many can tell what kind of a hen we have just eaten."

All agreed it was a very good kind, but there were many guesses as to the breed. The only child at the table, a twelve year old boy, was the one who guessed correctly.

The host beamed on him and said, "Jimmie, how did you know it was a Plymouth Rock?"

"Oh, that was easy," he replied. "I found a feather in the gravy." —Theburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

She Was No Easy Mark

Martha is seven and has shown more than the ordinary childish aversion to learning lessons, being washed and having curls made smooth and shining and less than the average delight in fairy tales. One day upon her return from Sunday school she was questioned as to what she had learned from her nice teacher this time. She cried out with flashing eyes and an indignant toss of her pretty head, "Why, mamma, my teacher told me today that story about the children of Israel walking across the Red Sea and not getting themselves wet one single bit, and she expected me to believe it!" —Lippincott's.

WHEN BABY SUFFERS FROM CONSTIPATION

Mothers, if your baby suffers from constipation, if his little stomach or bowels are out of order, give him Baby's Own Tablets. They never fail to give relief and an occasional dose will banish constipation and keep the stomach and bowels in perfect order. Concerning the Tablets, Mrs. J. H. Gagnon, St. Simon, Que., writes: "I cannot recommend Baby's Own Tablets too highly as a cure for constipation as I have found them the very best medicine in the world for this trouble." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The kind hearted woman stopped to reprove the youngster who had chased a cat up a tree. "You bad boy, suppose you were a cat, would you like to have any one chase you in that fashion?" "Gee! wouldn't I though, if I could climb like that," said the youngster, grinning.

A certain kind of blunder is supposed to be characteristically Hibernian, yet this story is told of a Frenchman: Prince Talleyrand was suddenly awakened one night by the discharge of a pistol. Seeing his valet in the apartment, he asked what the trouble was.

"Your highness," replied the man, "there was a mouse in the room, and, fearing it might disturb your slumber, I shot it." —Boston Transcript.

Advantage of Early Training

A Chicago business man is the father of a youth of a most literal tendency. Last spring, when the father left for Europe, where he was to spend the entire summer, he promised the lad that, if he were to attain a certain mark in his studies, his reward would be a continental trip with his father.

The prospect of such a trip stimulating the lad to such a degree that he attained a mark even higher than that set him by his parent. He cabled his father the one word, "Yes."

It would seem, however, that the pater had forgotten his offer, for, after thinking over the message, he cabled his son, "Yes, what?"

Then, in turn, the son was perplexed. Finally, after due reflection, he cabled to his father, "Yes, sir." —Detroit Free Press.

An Error in Geography

On one occasion the British lost a point in their war with Russia by reason of an error in their geography. This was when Commodore Elliott had succeeded in blockading the Russian fleet in the gulf of Saghalin, on the east coast of Siberia. The Russians were in a cul de sac, and the British ships awaited contentedly for such time as the enemy should venture to put to sea. But they waited in vain, and at last an investigation was made. It was found that the Russian fleet had vanished. While the British commodore waited at the south end of the gulf, the Russian ships slipped away through the shallows at the north end into the sea of Okhotsk. Until this discovery was made the British government had believed Saghalin to be a peninsula. Now, too late, they learned that it was an island, with a very narrow channel at the north end of the gulf running into the sea of Okhotsk.

This Boy Had Fits For Six Years

Two best doctors gave him up
Wonderful Cure effected by
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

This Letter Tells the Story

Mrs. J. D. Palmer, 38 Park Street, Amsterdam, N.Y., writes:—"When six years of age my boy began to have fits. They came on in the night. He would make strange noises, stiffen out, froth at mouth, face would twitch and sometimes, turned purple. After the fit he could not talk.

"The family physician said all he could do was to keep them down somewhat. The second physician pronounced trouble Jeffersonian epilepsy, but could not cure him. He suffered for six years and before beginning the use of Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD had three fits in about five days. Our druggist recommended Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. He has taken seven boxes and has not had the symptom of a fit since beginning this treatment five months ago. His color has greatly improved; he is not nervous and irritable like he used to be, and we consider his cure a most remarkable one."

Makes Puny Children Strong and Robust

Epilepsy is a form of nervous exhaustion and disappears when the vigor of the nervous system is restored. Such symptoms as headache, dizziness, ringing in the ears, irritability of temper and specks before the eyes give warning of danger ahead. It may be paralysis, epilepsy or some other form of nervous collapse. The warning tells you that such restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is necessary to revitalize the feeble, wasted nerve cells, to fill the system with vigor and ward off dangerous disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so mild and gentle in action and at the same time so powerful in its reconstructive influence that it is admirably suited as a means of restoring pale, weak, nervous children to health and vigor. Such ailments as Rickets and St. Vitus' Dance are overcome and vitality is so increased that trouble from indigestion, headache and weak eyes disappear.

This food cure is a wonderful help during the growing period when physiological changes are taking place and when school work is particularly trying on the nervous system. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.50. All dealers of Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Write for free booklet on "The Nerves."

Note the increase in weight while DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD is being used.

Westcott Sports

Next Tuesday (July 14th) is the date set for the annual Westcott Sports and those who have attended these sports in former years will no doubt again attend in large numbers and the newcomers will be given the glad hand on this festive day by the residents of Westcott.

The sports will open in the morning with a baseball game between Westcott and Westdale and a good game is looked for as both places have good teams. The winners of this game will have to play off with the Didsbury High school team in the afternoon.

There will also be athletic sports and horse races in the afternoon, as well as a bucking exhibition by the notorious bucking horse Texas ridden by Frank Moon. This horse is well known for its ability to put himself into every conceivable shape to unseat his rider and no doubt will add considerable to the fun of the afternoon.

The tug-of-war which is also to be held in the afternoon is expected to cause a great deal of interest. This contest is open to Didsbury or any other outside team and the prize is the $50 silver cup and $14 in cash.

To end up the day a dance will be held in J. Bellamy's barn, the proceeds of which is to go to the Westcott-Cremona band which will take part in the proceedings during the day.

Refreshments will be served on the grounds and everyone is invited to come out and have a good time.

Krafchenko Must Die

Winnipeg, July 5.—The news that the minister of justice had refused to commute sentence of death was made known Saturday to John Krafchenko, who is to be executed here July 9, for the murder of H. H. Arnold, manager of the Bank of Montreal at Plum Coulee. Krafchenko received the news stoically when it was broken to him by his spiritual adviser, Rev. W. B. Heeney.

Should Election Day Be Holiday

Ottawa, Ont., July 4.—Whether election day should be a public holiday or the hours of voting be extended from five to seven or even eight o'clock in the evening, is one of the problems upon which council will be taken by the government during the recess, for it is intended next session to introduce and pass legislation amending both the election and controverted elections act.

The objection to election day being a holiday is that it may tend towards intemperance. The more probable course would be to extend the voting hours in cities and towns, but not in country districts.

A draft being prepared of proposed amendments to the controverted elections act, in the light of inquiry by a special committee last session will postpone numerous changes in the present law, designed to expedite election trials. Within 15 days after the protest is served the case is to be at issue and judges are to set down immediately a date for the hearing. The general purpose of the amendments is to do away with technical quibbles and preliminary objections and to have the trial of protests within the shortest time possible.

E. F. Braun has some early spring oats that measure from three to four feet in height which will be hard to beat at this season. He reports that most of the grain is exceedingly good in the Rugby district. (Since writing the above we understand that Mr. Braun has lost a large part of his fine crop through hail; luckily he carried insurance.)

A terrific storm of hail, rain and wind made things lively in Calgary on Sunday about four o'clock in the afternoon. No serious accidents were reported but the storm played hob generally with everything and everybody. Some claim that the hail stones smelt very strongly of oil and are considering the advisability of leasing the sky. Perhaps they have done this before, so look out.

Mr. A. G. Studer has informed the Citizens Band that as soon as his new store building on Railway Ave. is completed he will give them the use of his store for one evening for a dance. Watch for the date. The band and orchestra are both preparing for this event which will take place in the near future.
